Legion Sports Postponed

The Irma Branch of the Canadian Legion has found it advisable to postpone the Sports Day originally scheduled for June 2, until Wednesday, July 8. Keep that date in mind. However, the dance will go on as scheduled June 2 in Kiefer's Hall with Larson's orchestra supplying the music.

There will be a special church parade for all Legion members and all other ex-servicemen who can attend on Sunday, May 31.

Please be at the Legion Hall at 11 a.m.

We have for distribution Coronation Souvenir buttons, enough for all the children in the Irma district. We will distribute as many as possible through the schools with the kind co-operation of the School Teachers. Any child who does not yet have a button through the school can get one by calling at Fred Jack's hardware on Monday, June 1 or Wednesday, June 3.

CGIT GROUP ENTERTAIN ON TUESDAY EVENING

The Canadian Girls in Training completed a full and busy year by holding an entertainment on Tuesday evening in the school auditorium. This portrayed "A Day at Camp," and the girls' mothers and other friends were guests.

A jolly evening was spent round a "make believe" camp fire with songs, games, a skit, a devotional service and a lunch of weiners, coffee and pie. A day at camp, held indoors, has its compensations—no mosquitoes, no ants, nobody falls in the lake and the camp fire glows continually and does not smoke. You can depend on the weather indoors too.

ART CLASS COMPLIMENTED ON DECORATIONS

We would like to compliment the Art Class of the Irma high school on the lovely Coronation decorations in the school auditorium.

We wish our lovely Queen a long and happy reign. It may be a lengthy span on the bridge of time before we see another coronation but we feel that the high school will long remember this one and the pleasure and pride felt by one and all who took part in designing and executing those decorations.

THE CORONATION

A wonderful spectacle, a gorgeous pageant, and a symbolic ceremony will take place in London, on June 2, 1953. The superlative adjectives of a super-colossal Hollywood movie production will be amplified many times to tell about this historical event in the lives of the British people. It will be the scene of the Coronation of Her Most Gracious Majesty Queen Elizabeth II. Along with other titles she will be named "Queen of Canada."

Crowds from all parts of the world will line the gaily decorated streets along which the coronation procession will pass to and from Westminster Abbey.

Colour will be everywhere, bunting, flags, and well-decorated buildings. Men in the uniforms of the Army, Navy and Air Forces, will stand shoulder to shoulder along the route of the procession. Other regiments in their dress uniforms will take part in the parade, but the centre of interest will be the Royal Coach drawn by its eight grey horses, with its traditional heralds in their elaborate liveries. All this against a background of tier upon tier of seats, occupied by spectators in their finest clothing.

The traditional ceremony in the Abbey will be rich in the symbolism of the Christian faith, combined with the ritual of heraldry, royal authority, power and justice.

The 41st Coronation in Westminster Abbey will be witnessed by more than seven thousand notable persons. The rich robes of the peers and the ladies, the ceremonial robes of church and state dignitaries, the glittering of rich jewelled regalia, in the colourful lights from the beautiful windows of the Abbey will make a picture to be found nowhere else in the world.

On the human side, tradition of the British family will not be overlooked. The lovely Princess and her handsome husband, The Duke of Edinburgh, who visited Canada two years ago, and captured the hearts of Canadians, will now be supported by other members of her family. Her widowed mother, now titled the "Queen Mother Elizabeth," and her sister Princess Margaret will be there. Then her two children, Bonnie, young Prince Charles and Princess Anne will witness the historic proceedings.

Millions of words and pictures, before, during and after the Coronation will fly around the world telling of the event to millions of interested peoples, who will look to the Queen and the Crown, as symbols of British freedom, justice and honour.

This is more than a spectacle, or a pageant, it is a meaningful, purposeful, ceremony of dedication. It marks the unity of a sovereign with the ideals of her people. Long Live the Queen! God Save the Queen!

Wedding Bells

GIEBELHAUS - LAE

Golden Valley Lutheran Church was the scene of an attractive mid-afternoon wedding recently when Miss Leonora Mae Lae exchanged marriage vows with Mr. Laurel Girard Owen Giebelhaus.

Rev. G. O. Evenson of Edmonton performed the double-ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lae of Viking and the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Giebelhaus of Vegreville. Rev. John Precht assisted at the marriage service.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a traditional white gown of net over satin, fashioned with sweeping net train. Her bodice of Chantilly lace was styled with lily point sleeves. A tiara held in place her fingertip veil, and she carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses.

Miss Viola Lae and Miss Gwen Giebelhaus, both of Edmonton, attended the bride, choosing gowns of net and lace over taffeta with matching headresses in shades of mauve and green. Each carried a nosegay of daisies, stocks and yellow roses.

The groom was attended by Mr. Donald Giebelhaus and Mr. Clifford Lae. Ushers were Mr. Arlo Likness and Mr. Garry Giebelhaus.

During the service, Mr. Stanley Sorenson sang "Because." Miss Lorraine Giebelhaus played the wedding music.

Following the ceremony, a reception for 60 guests was held in the church parlors, where the bride's table was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake flanked by bouquets of snap dragons and tulips.

To receive her guests, Mrs. Lae wore an afternoon frock of navy sheer with navy and white accessories. A corsage of Talisman was pinned at her shoulder.

The groom's mother chose a teal blue suit complemented with navy and white accessories. Her corsage was of Talisman roses.

Bless This House and "I Love You Truly." Rev. Mr. Evenson sang "Oh Happy Home."

Mrs. O. Likness of Irma and Mrs. T. Likness of Viking presided at the coffee urns.

For a honeymoon trip north, the bride donned a two piece beige suit complemented with green accessories.

When they return, Mr. and Mrs. Giebelhaus will make their home in Edmonton.

EDMONTON REPORT

By Donald F. Smith

EDMONTON — Where do you find the answers to questions that crop up in family discussions, club and association work and your own curiosity?

Perhaps you are one of the many Albertans who turn to the library of the University of Alberta Dept. of Extension for help. Not only does this important Alberta institution maintain a large collection of books for circulation throughout the province, it also undertakes to answer the many questions that pour in.

Miss Flora Macleod, extension librarian for the past eight years, estimated that her staff answers 130 to 200 questions a month.

They come from citizens in small towns and villages, rural communities and isolated farms—anywhere in the province and many centres in the far-flung Northland where well-stocked libraries are still but a dream for the future.

Maybe you were the person who wrote in asking about missionary work in Burma or the teachings of Unitarianism. It must have been a debating society which wanted information substantiating the claim that modern woman spends too much time outside the home. Also in this category would be the person who asked for material to prove that Boy Scouts are more beneficial than Air Cadets.

These are just a few of the stranger questions, which send the extension library staff digging into reference books and material for the answer, if there is one.

Frequent requests are received for material to prepare speeches on various topics, information for study groups and books are sent on home-making, farming and mechanics.

Of course the major task of the library is to furnish reading material.

This is done from the library's reserve of some 35,000 volumes of fiction and non-fiction, of which 20,000 books are on the "open shelf." A total of 95,000 orders were filled during the library's 1952-53 year.

The shelves of the extension library are open to all residents of the province, except those in Edmonton and Calgary who are served by large public libraries. Orders also are filled for persons in the Northwest Territories.

A complete catalogue of the books available is compiled each year and supplements are issued every three months to persons who have purchased the 50-cent catalogue. The only charge to the borrower of books is the cost of postage.

Despite the growth of libraries in Alberta's smaller communities, the circulation of extension library books has doubled in the past 10 years. Miss Macleod feels the rural libraries in some ways create a demand for the literature and material of the extension library.

The community library generates an interest in reading and as the citizen's interest increases his reading horizons broaden and he steps outside the limits of the small library.

From the extension catalogue kept in all libraries which are members of the Alberta Library Association, he selects and sends for new books. Perhaps his community library is one which receives "travelling libraries" from the extension library.

They consist of 35 books of fiction and general-interest non-fiction. They also are sent to clubs, associations and schools for three-month periods upon the signatures of three responsible persons in the community.

To carry out this service the library staff has to study each individual request, collect the books from the shelves and tend to the packaging and keeping of postage accounts.

We investigated this service following the annual meeting last week of the Alberta Library Association, attended by librarians of the big city libraries and also the librarians from small communities, who are struggling against long odds to provide good reading and useful information for citizens far removed from the larger sources.

The meeting was told that in 68 Alberta towns there are 46 public libraries, while in 138 villages there are 43. Including the province's seven cities there are 23 municipal libraries in Alberta, 94 independent association libraries and 29 regional association libraries.

WHAT STREET DO YOU LIVE ON?

(Bonnyville Tribune)

When a stranger asks you how to reach a certain residence or place of business in town, how do you go about giving these people proper instructions? Do you feel inadequately equipped to give instructions of your town since there are no street or avenue numbers and names that you can remember? Bonnyville is reaching a size that does warrant a street and avenue numbering system, both for residents and visiting people. The cost would be borne by the taxpayer where the actual house or business numerals are concerned and either the town or some organization could pay for the cost of setting up at every corner an indicator of what street or avenue it is. The total cost of the project would not be exorbitant and would prove to be convenient for everybody.

Since Bonnyville's birth some forty years ago, the various councils have adopted street and avenue names chosen from the long list of pioneer settlers. These names are fine and worthy of remembrance and frequent mention, but serve as street names only to those who have access to the few maps of the town. As a result of a recent survey we would say that 9 out of 10 persons don't know the name of the street or avenue on which they reside or operate a business. This is not a shameful fact, but just serves to prove that even though Bonnyville has street names nobody knows them but perhaps a very few.

After contacting twenty local residents at random, we find that it is the majority of the people's wish to have streets and avenues numbered. Nineteen out of twenty residents interviewed strongly opposed the system of names for streets and avenues, but favored the numerical system, something like that which is in operation in Edmonton, not Calgary.

No matter what names or what system is adopted, something ought to be done.

ner of the province without a library, the meeting was told there are vast areas of closely settled rural lands with only limited access to a library.

JUNE 2 WILL BE REMEMBERED

(Senator J. W. Stambaugh)

Without doubt, June 2, 1953, will go down as a great day. Never in the history of the world have we enjoyed so many of the good things of life. We are slightly over the half way mark of the 20th Century, and during that half century, more has been accomplished in every way of progress in almost every walk of life, especially in this true in the material sense.

In agriculture, we have jumped from slow moving oxen to fast moving rubber tired tractors. In transportation, from the horse and buggy to speedy trucks and autos. Medical science has done wonders in combating disease and teaching us how to live; our life span has been increased twenty years since 1900. Education has increased by leaps and bounds.

How fortunate we are in this day and age, and in this country. But I doubt if our growth in the spiritual has kept pace with the material.

The Coronation is the consecration of the vessel in which rests the continuity of Government in the great British Commonwealth of Nations. That vessel happens to be an enchanting, beautiful young woman, with enormous charm and a deep emotional appeal.

We sincerely hope that with our Queen we are entering on a long era of Peace. Today we find this charming, lovely young woman, this faithful wife, this loving mother, kneeling at prayer, asking for divine guidance, and dedicating herself anew to the faithful performance of her duties. She belongs to us; we belong to her. We pray for her a long, useful and happy life. Long may she reign; long live the Queen!

RABID ANIMALS DANGER TO ALBERTA PICKNICKERS

A serious warning against picnicking anywhere in the province because of the rabies epidemic was given this week-end in Calgary.

District veterinarian Dr. H. C. Storey said that people on picnics, fishing and camping trips may be exposed to rabies at any point in Alberta and even in the mountains.

He definitely advised against sleeping in tents or in the open, emphasizing that rabid animals may travel many miles and become unusually bold and ferocious.

"They have no fear of either man or beast and will bite anything which they encounter," said Dr. Storey. "The saliva which carries the virus of the disease is heavily laden with rabies infection."

FOOT, MOUTH DISEASE AGAIN HITS MEXICO

WASHINGTON — The United States border was closed to Mexican cattle Saturday following reports of an outbreak of foot and mouth disease in Mexico. The embargo was imposed just nine months after similar restrictions had been lifted following eradication of an earlier outbreak of the disease.

She was rushed to the Merced hospital where the ankle was put in a cast. Mrs. King is staying with their son until she can return home. Her many friends here wish her a speedy recovery.

To deliver the power and performance expected and demanded of them, combines, tractors and power machines are precision manufactured from high quality materials.

But this carefully made machinery must work in heat, in cold, in dry conditions, in wet conditions, in gritty dust and clinging mud. On the Massey-Harris Test Track these trying conditions are provided so that engineers may test Massey-Harris machines to check their ability to meet present-day requirements in field operation.

In engineering design and construction, Massey-Harris machines offer features and advantages, developed to help get work done easier, quicker and at less cost.

Attention! Sprayer Owners

The "Dope" on the new National Boom Extension Nozzle is simply this: If your present sprayer covers a width of 33 feet it means that you travel 25 miles to spray 100 acres. The same sprayer using Extension Nozzles would only travel 17 miles. It means an increase in coverage of nearly 50%. You can also do a better job around bluff edges, sloughs, fence lines, etc. The saving in time, expense and tracks through the fields is of real importance.

I would like to tell you more about them, or even better—show them to you, the first time you are in town.

In case you have not heard, NATIONAL prices on 2-4 D are lower than ever before. Same high quality, of course.

SUMMERFALLOW EARLY

Crops are made mainly by rainfall. Summerfallow stores up rainfall. The earlier the summerfallow is done—preferably immediately after seeding—the more rainfall is stored in the soil, hence the better the crop will be in 1954. Farmers, therefore, are well advised to start summerfallowing as soon as seeding is completed.
